

GOVERNORS
IN SESSION

The Fifth Annual Conference Opened Yesterday

GOVERNOR ODDIE
TEMP. CHAIRMAN

The Meeting Was Attended by a Large Crowd

Colorado Springs, Col., Aug. 27.—The fifth annual conference of the House of Governors was called to order yesterday by Governor McGovern of Wisconsin, who introduced Governor Tasker L. Oddie of Nevada as temporary chairman. Governor E. M. Ammons of Colorado in his address of welcome emphasized the importance of the conference as the most satisfactory way of dealing with questions directly affecting the states. Governor William Spry of Utah responded for the governors. So great was the demand for a place in the convention hall that admission was by cards. In many instances the governors were accompanied by distinguished residents of their home states who are spending the summer in this region. Governor Colquhoun of Texas came in for special honors. A party of Dallas, Texas, mail carriers en route to San Francisco to attend the national convention of the association, which meets in that city Aug. 30, visited his hotel. They had their own band, which gave a serenade. They were joined later by the mail carriers band from Cleveland, Ohio, also en route to San Francisco.

SHARP BREAK IN NEW HAVEN STOCK

Fall of Four Points To 90 1/2 Brings It To a New Low Record Price—Due To Cut Dividend.

New York, Aug. 26.—Stock of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, which has experienced a decline within the last year that has made history in Wall street broke badly again yesterday. It fell over four points, to 90 1/2, once more establishing a low record price. Subsequently it rallied to 94 1/2. The stock in former years sold as high as 270, and its pronounced weakness within recent months foreshadowed the reduction which was made in the annual dividend rate from 8 to 6 per cent. Weakness of the stock yesterday was due to estimates of the earnings for the last fiscal year, based on such figures as have appeared. These figures indicated that the New Haven failed to earn the dividends of 7 1/2 per cent paid in the last fiscal year, having operated at a deficit of more than $4,000,000.

Williams proved to be the most dangerous opponent that McLoughlin had met in the seven matches which brought him his second championship. By yesterday's victory, the Californian obtained two legs on the seventh challenge cup.

HEARST POSSIBLE
RIVAL OF MITCHELL

May Enter the Mayoralty Race Against the Present Executive and McCall.

New York, Aug. 27.—The New York mayoralty yesterday presented a badly scrambled situation, with such possibilities as the entrance of William Randolph Hearst into the race and the placing of Mayor Gaynor, Democrat, at the head of a Republican ticket to oppose Edward E. McCall, the Tammany candidate, and John Purroy Mitchell, fusionist.

Mitchell yesterday asserted that George A. McAneny must be endorsed for president of the board of aldermen, and William A. Prendergast supported for comptroller if he is to head the ticket. This was in reply to the repudiation of McAneny and Prendergast by Hearst. There has been some dissatisfaction with the selection of Mitchell among Republicans in the fusion ranks from the start, and with Gaynor certain to make the race there is much talk among the insurgents of placing him at the head of a Republican ticket.

IN BOSTON MARKETS.

Cheese Advances in Price and Butter Will Undoubtedly Go Up.

Boston, Aug. 27.—Another advance of five-eighths of one cent, on all grades of cheese, which was made yesterday, indicates the firmness of the local dairy market at the commencement of the week. While yesterday's rise in prices did not apply to butter, it is not impossible that another jump may be chalked up in these figures before very long, as the best grade of butter continues to be very scarce and local receipts as a whole are averaging considerably lower than those of a year ago. Little relief from the scarcity is expected until the middle of September, when moderate rains will probably commence and relieve the drought which is now burning up the producing sections. THE SMART SET IN A SMALL TOWN.

In the August American Magazine, George Fitch, the Peoria humorist, writes an amusing piece entitled "Homebody's Two Four-Hundredths." It is the first of a series of Homebody's sketches. Following is an extract:

"For a good many years, Mrs. Wert Payley, wife of the First National bank, was Smart Set, all by herself. There was never any question of it. She admitted it and we didn't take the trouble to deny it. In a way, she was regarded as a public benefactor. Nobody else cared to spend the money necessary to be a Smart Set, and since Mrs. Payley was willing to fight and bleed, so to speak, to give our town tone and inject a little excitement into our prairie lives now and then, we felt that the least we could do was to regard her as a social colossus."

Cleveland Man Thinks He May Be Boy Kidnaped 50 Years Ago.

Do Moths Like Green?

In the September Woman's Home Companion appears a department called "The Exchange," which is devoted to household necessities. One contributor writes as follows about moths and the color green:

"One of your contributors writes that moths do not like green and maintains that she has proved this by keeping moth proof a winter cloak and a fur collar in a common green cambric bag tied closely. It seems to me more probable that it was the cotton cambric that held no attraction for the pests. I know that they have no aversion to the color green, for recently I was forced to burn a beautiful green cloth suit because it had become very badly moth infested."

for Men

¶ We're preparing for colder weather, and as usual, we're early in getting together the new things that men will wear this fall.

¶ New hats, new caps, new sweaters—a lots of them are coming in every day now, and you ought to drop around when you have time and keep your eye on what will be worn when summer has passed.

¶ Meanwhile, we're busy supplying what's needed right now. A month or more of warm weather yet, and we're paying strict attention to summer goods too.

SHERIFFS HAVE WARRANTS

To Turn Thaw Over to New York Authorities, Says Brown.

Brattleboro, Aug. 27.—"Harry K. Thaw will be arrested and held for extradition by the New York state authorities if he steps foot within the borders of Vermont," said Attorney General Rufus E. Brown of Burlington in Brattleboro yesterday. "The sheriffs of Orleans and Essex counties are armed with the necessary papers, and a close watch is being maintained by Newport, Norton Mills and Island Pond."

Asked what charge the arrest would be made upon, the attorney-general replied that he understood that Thaw was charged by the New York state authorities with bribery or conspiracy, or both.

"I have not the slightest doubt," he added, "that the head of Matthewa asylum has a perfect right to come into this state and take Thaw wherever he may find him. If Thaw tries habeas corpus proceedings, he would be turned down without a doubt."

At the time of the interview the attorney-general, who is in Brattleboro for the purpose of defending the public service commission at a hearing in chambers before United States Judge J. L. Martin on a petition of the Rutland Railroad company to vacate an order requiring the construction of a new railroad station in the city of Vergennes, was reading the morning paper stories of the Thaw case. As he turned away at the end of the brief interview he remarked that if it were not for the papers Thaw would not be famous for his foolish acts.

EVELYN TESTIFIES.

Says She Was Offered Money to Annul Marriage.

New York, Aug. 27.—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, testifying before a referee in bankruptcy, swore yesterday that Harry Thaw's mother had contracted to pay her $15,000 cash and $1,000 a month so long as she (Evelyn) should live, to enter into an action for the annulment of her marriage to Harry Thaw.

The Smart Set in a Small Town.

In the August American Magazine, George Fitch, the Peoria humorist, writes an amusing piece entitled "Homebody's Two Four-Hundredths." It is the first of a series of Homebody's sketches. Following is an extract:

"For a good many years, Mrs. Wert Payley, wife of the First National bank, was Smart Set, all by herself. There was never any question of it. She admitted it and we didn't take the trouble to deny it. In a way, she was regarded as a public benefactor. Nobody else cared to spend the money necessary to be a Smart Set, and since Mrs. Payley was willing to fight and bleed, so to speak, to give our town tone and inject a little excitement into our prairie lives now and then, we felt that the least we could do was to regard her as a social colossus."

"The Payleys were the only people in Homebody who had lunch at noon, and as early as 1900 they ate it from the bare table. She was the only woman in Homebody who could 'look shy' on an afternoon gable of any kind for a few minutes and get away with it without insulting the hostess. When she shook hands with you you always grabbed in the wrong place, no matter how much thought you put into it, and while you were readjusting your sights and clapping for her fingers and perspiring with a awful moment of suspense, and when it became evident that the only way to get Mrs. Singer's hand down to the earth level would be to excavate beneath her and change her foundations, Mrs. Payley gave in and reached."

Barrenkap, Duchesneil and Smith.

Barrenkap, Duchesneil and Smith, pitchers for the Pittsfield club in the Eastern association, are promising material for the big league.

IN THE FIELD OF SPORTS

Maisel, the newly acquired third baseman of the Highlanders, is one of the few players to break in the big leagues that uphold the wonderful reputations accorded them before their entry into fast company. Maisel is a little fellow, about the size of Bush, the shortstop of the Detroit Tigers.

Fred Clarke says that he traded Camnitz for Dolan because he wanted speed and he says he got speed in Dolan.

It is rumored among baseball circles that the Boston Nationals paid as high as $10,000 for Pitcher Jack Quinn, First Baseman Schmidt and Outfielder Zinn of the Rochester club.

The left field pastures of the National league claim more speed than is available in any other field in that league. Those persons detailed for duty within this territory are Burns, two Magues, Williams, Wheat, Beecher and Cagney. Everyone of these men are especially fast on their feet and exceedingly hard to beat down to first base.

Lew McCarthy, star catcher of the Newark club, has been sold to Bill Dahlen of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

In the 17 years that Napoleon Lajoie has been playing in big league baseball he has never taken part in a world's championship series.

President Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox has purchased Pitcher Faber of Des Moines club in the Western league. He is a big right-hander and will not report until next spring.

Jimmy Callahan, manager of the Chicago White Sox, has been suspended indefinitely by Sam Johnson. The suspension came because of altercation between Callahan and Umpire McGreevey during last Saturday's game with Philadelphia.

Jimmy Viox, the youngster playing second base for the Pirates, has come along with such success this season that he is looked upon as one of the best men in the National league. He plays the game every minute he is on the field and hits with powerful vengeance.

Eddie Oslow, first baseman, and Al Platte, right fielder, of the Providence club of the International league, have been sold to the Detroit Tigers. Oslow formerly played with the Tigers and is now rated as the best first baseman in the league. Platte is the star outfielder of the Grays.

Howard Camnitz expressed regret that he had to leave Pittsburg, where he cherished old associations. He says, however, that he will give his very best to the Phillies. Camnitz, together with Third Baseman Byrne, were exchanged to Philadelphia for Dolan and a cash payment. Dolan is now playing with the Pirates.

Frank L. Donahue, famous in major league baseball about 15 years ago, is dead at his home in Philadelphia. He was 41 years old, retiring from major league baseball seven years ago to enter business. He entered professional baseball in 1892 with the Milford, Conn. club. He later played with the Lowell club in the league. In 1896 he joined the major leagues, playing with St. Louis and Philadelphia in the National league and then with St. Louis, Cleveland and Detroit in the American league.

Amos Mayforth, the well known Vermont catcher, has gained great experience with Greenfield in the Twin State league. Mayforth is said to be the best catcher in the league. He has been the team's regular backstop and has caught every game this season. This week he completed a being overworked and called upon a recruit named Wendell to take his place while he enjoyed a much needed rest. Mayforth still is the fear of the base-runners in the league. He is batting for around .250.

The New England league now has 21 batters placed in the .300 class hitters. McMahon of Brockton is leading with .358 with Wilson of Lynn second with an average of .337. Lowell is leading the league in batting and Worcester leads in fielding.

The Giants, although leading the race in the National league, stand only second in batting and are sixth in fielding. In the National league the Dodgers lead in batting while the Phillies take honors in the field.

In the American league, according to fielding honors are placed in batting with the standing of the teams in the league race. The Athletics are first in both fielding and batting. The Clevelanders rate second in both branches.

Barrenkap, Duchesneil and Smith, pitchers for the Pittsfield club in the Eastern association, are promising material for the big league.

The Dreadful Tricks a Mirror Plays on a Fat Woman.

Grace Margaret Gould, the fashion editor of the Woman's Home Companion, contributes an exceedingly entertaining and sound article to the September number of that periodical. "The Deceitful Mirror" shows how some women are so intent on being stylish that the mirror is not of the slightest use to them. Although they look into the mirror, they do not see anything there except their desires. In other words, they refuse to believe the mirror. The following is her account of how some fat women regard the reflection of themselves in the mirror:

"Sometimes I think that the mirror has a special grudge against the rotund little woman. She starts out with every intention of buying a plain, simple little dress, but the saleslady announces that draperies are the correct thing, that everyone is wearing the draped skirt and why not she?"

"So she decides to, and of course it is the fussiest of all the draped models, but she gazes at herself in the mirror with distinct joy. She knows it is the style and the mirror tells her that she is the style. Here again she only sees what she wants to see."

"In reality, she is gazing at what appears to be a bundle of clothes—a movable, funny, stuffed-out bundle, but she doesn't see it, nor the fact that she looks shorter and fatter than her worst enemy could wish, and also—as if she could never take another natural step in her life. But she does. She struts out of the shop with little mincing steps as if she really were the goddess of fashion herself."

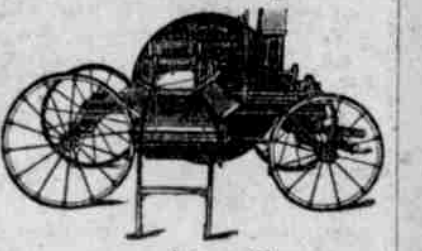

Slavery in the Islands.

After fifteen years of American control, Dean Worcester, the one man who has been a member of every Philippine commission since the original occupation, brings to light the existence of slavery, and among the Christian tribes at that. One moral of this is obvious, Quezon and other native leaders, professing themselves unaware of the existence of slavery, would not be the men to put it down, were they entrusted with power. American rule must accordingly be continued.

There are other ways of looking at such a state of affairs. If the Americans, with undisputed authority, do not succeed better than this, it might be a good plan for somebody else to try. Practically speaking, the story can probably be explained something like this: The Filipinos, in common with all Asiatics, seem shockingly lacking in natural affection for their daughters. This is notoriously true in China, and only little less so in our own archipelago. It is wholly deplorable, but time and the advance of civilization will have to correct it. What Dean Worcester has really discovered is the Asiatic point of view toward women, and it is a very bad one.—Boston Herald.
